ROOF MAINTAINANCE

As the building owner, it is necessary for you to provide maintenance for your roofing system and related building components.

Even smart business owners and facility managers make costly mistakes when it comes to roof maintenance – or the lack of it.

Routine Maintenance will extend the life of your investment and lower the life cycle cost of your roof. Failure to maintain the roof may result in early deterioration of the roofing system. Repairs for deterioration from lack of proper maintenance are very costly and puts interior valuables at risk. Untreated deterioration can result in warranty cancellation.
